FOUNDER

Davina Jennile Blair is a behavior scientist, corporate trainer, AI workforce strategist, entrepreneur, and civic leader. She holds a Master of Arts in Applied Behavior Analysis from Ball State University and a Bachelor of Arts in International Studies and Spanish from Georgia Southern University, and is a Lean Six Sigma Black Belt. Her professional experience includes corporate operations leadership, healthcare settings, and public-sector behavioral health — including DBHDD, McKesson/CoverMyMeds, and Wellstar — cross-sector depth that allows her training to translate across industries. She is active in civic and professional leadership through the United Way of Greater Atlanta Southern Crescent Regional Board, Junior League of Atlanta, the National Coalition of 100 Black Women (Metropolitan Atlanta Chapter), the Georgia Southern University Alumni Association, and NCNW Greater Atlanta Section.
